WHY IS A PUBLIC?

BOY'S BRIGADE VICTORS IN WARMLY CONTESTED BATTLE OF JULY FOURTH

That the grand celebration of the birthday of Uncle Sam, under the auspices of the G. A. R., U. S. W. V., Boys' Brigade, Auxiliary Corps U. S. W. V. and Battery B, National Guards, was a success, needs no telling to those who were present at Grand Canyon on the Fourth of July.

However, the greatest event of the day was the wrestling of the Stars and Stripes from the hands of the grand old veterans who for the past sixty odd years have jealously guarded it as they have their lives, by the Boys' Brigade, all of them in knickerbockers, not armed with real guns. Many of the spectators and guests became restless and scouted the idea that there was going to be a skirmish, as the Light Artillery, consisting of two field pieces and a detachment of soldiers under a guidance bearing the inscription "Company B, First Artillery Corps," drew into line. Nevertheless the apparent inactivity was only the silence before the storm, for the artillery immediately began quietly making preparations for an encounter.

JIMMY BRENNAN SPORTING MAN KILLED

James T. Brennan, politician and sporting man, killed in his automobile at East Fourteenth street and Estabrook avenue, San Leandro, early yesterday morning, had many friends in Richmond. He had been returning from visiting his wife, who was believed to be dying in Providence hospital, and worn out watching her bedside, is believed to have fallen asleep. The machine struck a tree and was shattered. Brennan's skull was fractured and his right arm nearly torn from his body. He was 41 years old and was once on the Oakland police department. He had recently opened Grand Canyon Chateau, near Grand Canyon Park, and was making a great success of the resort. He had been in the saloon business in Oakland since a year before the San Francisco fire, at one time owning the Tip saloon.

CONTRA COSTA COUNTY PIONEER WELL KNOWN IN RICHMOND DIES

Henry Raap, a Contra Costa county pioneer, and well known in Richmond business and social circles, died at his home in Hookston. Funeral arrangements have not been definitely announced, but will be under charge of J. J. Hauser of Martinez.

The deceased is survived by his daughter, Adele, wife of Supervisor Vincent Hook, and four sons, Harry Raap, engaged in business in San Francisco; John Raap, with a railroad company in Alaska; Alfred Raap, who resides in Martinez, and Otto Raap, who is in Alameda.

The wife of Henry Raap died in April, 1901.

PATRONIZE YOUR HOME MERCHANTS

The merchants in the distant city give you nothing valuable that the home merchants cannot give you—and the former cannot and will not do for you many things the latter do gladly.

The guns were drawn into line at the upper end of the picnic grounds, while the signal corps sent out detachments to advantageous points on the surrounding hills commanding a view of the surrounding territory, believing that they could discover the approach of the enemy from any quarter from which they approached. A wireless telephone was installed and everything was in readiness as they thought for immediate action. Meanwhile the invaders were not idle. While these preparations were going on the sports of the S. W. V. and the Boys' Brigade discovered a deep ravine along which they could approach to within 200 yards of the battery's left flank and directly between the battery and the signal outpost.

ARNOLD AND DIETRICH SAY CROPS NEVER BETTER IN COUNTY

Flushed with the success they had been meeting all along the line and convinced that the chief was winning out in his fight for sheriff, James P. Arnold and J. W. Dietrich returned last night in their auto from Byron, near Colusa, and spoke along the water front for the eastern section of the county.

Arnold and Dietrich say that crops in Contra Costa never looked better than this year. This, they aver, is particularly true of barley, which will in most sections run 24 to 28 sacks to the acre.

MUSCAE SWATTING IS DEPLETING DANGEROUS PEST IN RICHMOND

Richmond commenced the month of July with just 2,505,000 flies less than it had the first of June, according to a statement submitted to the city council last night by City Health Officer Blake.

Richmond contributed to this sum 499,000, Point Richmond 207,000, while Pullman added 11,000 of the total.

HINDU'S DEATH COST COMPANY BUT LITTLE

A settlement of $300 was accepted yesterday as satisfaction for the killing of John Doe Gummo, a Hindu, who met his death during an explosion at the California Cap Works on October 16, 1911.

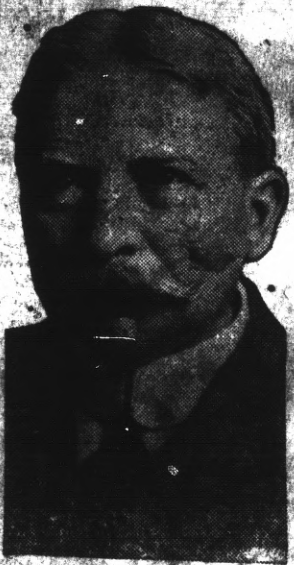

The settlement was made on the day before the case was to go before Judge R. H. Latimer of Martinez.

CHILD CRUELTY CASES ARE BLAMED ON BOOZE

Humane Officer Rev. D. W. Calfee stated yesterday that during the month of June he had been called to investigate 151 cases. Nearly all of these were charges of cruelty to children, and some few cases of cruelty to animals. Out of this number there were 25 cases in which it was found necessary to take definite action.

The cases were mostly in Richmond, but some were in Concord, Martinez, Antioch, Oakley and Byron. In speaking of the cases of cruelty to children, the Rev. Mr. Calfee gave several instances of where extreme cruelty had been practised upon the unfortunate little ones, and stated that in every case where he had been called and where action had been necessary whisky had been the cause of the trouble.

THEY LIKED HIM OUT

WHEN HE WAS MAYOR

HENRY C. HALL

Henry Clay Hall, one of the two newly chosen members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, whose powers stretch over the railroad empire of the United States, has been confirmed by the Senate and qualified for his post at Washington. He is a lawyer and a Democrat, an attorney who went West for his health. They like him out in Colorado. He has been Mayor of Colorado Springs and President of the Colorado State Bar Association.

STARKEY IS CHARGED WITH USING WATER PITCHER AS WEAPON

A warrant was issued yesterday at Pinole by J. E. Savage against G. W. Starkey, charging battery.

Savage says that while he was in bed several mornings ago Starkey entered his room and hit him on the head with a water pitcher.

The case will be heard in the Police Court Wednesday morning. Attorney Tom Johnston will represent Savage.

AUTO TRIP MADE OVER THE HOLIDAY

A trip over the Fourth of July, to Suisun and neighboring towns by automobile was made by Mr. and Mrs. Overas and children, Elmer and Clarence, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Walsh and Julia Hagen. The trip was in the nature of an outing, but relatives were visited at Suisun.

CHILD CRUELTY CASES ARE BLAMED ON BOOZE

"And it wasn't always the fathers," said Calfee. "The mothers in several cases were addicted to the use of liquor, and made life more than miserable for the poor children. In some cases both parents were confirmed drunkards."

FATHER ILL, BUT RECOVERY POSSIBLE

E. E. Woodworth, day dispatcher of the S. F. & O. T. Railway Company's offices at Richmond, returned Sunday from Dayton, Ore., where he was suddenly called because of the grave illness of his father. Although very serious, the condition of the father was found to be better than the physicians predicted it would be, and some small hope is held out for his recovery.

RICHMOND BOYS WIN PRIZE AND MAKE HIT AT SAN JOSE PARADE

Richmond people who were at the Native Sons celebration of the glorious Fourth at San Jose are proud in their praise of the showing made by the local boys. The band from Richmond won second prize and there were nearly a score of other bands in the parade. Piedmont was first and Athens third. The boys made a splendid turnout and the Richmondites present were proud of them. Over 200 citizens were present.

NUISANCES HAVE NO PLACE IN RICHMOND SAYS THIS OFFICE

The month's record by the city sanitary inspector's office was a busy one. Three houses were quarantined, two with diphtheria and one with scarlet fever. One hundred and three nuisances were inspected and 31 abated. There are pending 22 nuisances. Thirteen stables were inspected and four condemned. Two stables were approved and the matters regarding two held pending further investigation. The use of five buildings for use as stables was ordered discontinued.

Two hotels and an apartment house were inspected and approved. Ten markets were inspected and three found unsanitary.

The meat inspection included 51 calves, two of which were condemned, 86 sheep and 16 hogs.

Twenty-four samples of milk were taken for analysis.

Sixteen culture tubes were taken to the Berkeley laboratory for inspection.

LETTERS WILL BE USED AGAINST SANNAZARO

The case of Giuseppe Sannazzaro, who confessed to the writing of threatening letters to Maggetti, a local hotel proprietor, will be heard this morning.

The police department stated yesterday that in spite of the fact that the man had confessed to the writing of the threatening letters, and in spite of the fact that the language in which the threat at the life of Maggetti's wife was such that the threat was clearly apparent, the man had demanded a lawyer to present his case to the court.

The two letters will be the chief evidence used at the trial and translations, line for line, have been obtained for the occasion.

A third letter is in the hands of the United States government, which will probably be used against Sannazzaro later, provided the matter is of the serious nature which it is thought to be at present.

CHARGED WITH CALF THEFT

Max Korn was arrested yesterday for stealing a calf from M. J. Cortin of Stage. A warrant was placed against Korn, charging petit larceny, and the man apprehended and released on payment of $50 bail.

The case will come before Police Judge Lindsey this afternoon.

Charter Also Matter of Small Moment To Richmond Rulers

The city council has passed the buck to the public, and the public will please take notice that when the city council, or the most of the city council—a majority of the city council, at least—wants to transact its business the way that suits the majority of the city council, said city council will transact its business of the people—that way, petitions from the people, pleadings from the business interests, city charters and like trifles to the contrary notwithstanding.

All of which is apropos of the election of a new mayor for the city of Richmond and the refusal by the council to recognize an initiative petition containing signatures of nearly 35 per cent of the voters of the district, for an election on the Nicholl city hall proposition.

VOTERS TAKE NOTICE

So the Richmond voters will kindly take notice that it is a mere waste of time to fool with such things as petitions, or seek enforcement of the city charter, for the council knows how the business of the public should be run and the council is going to run it that way so long as the courts will permit, which threatens to be not long.

The first act of the council upon going into session last night was to ballot on the mayor, and it balloted with a vengeance. Incidentally it passed the deal up to the Daily News. Some of the councilmen are curious to see this paper make a bucking broncho look like a gamboeing lamb.

If anybody believes all of the insinuations of life are to be encountered at a ladies' afternoon tea, that person should attend a meeting of the Richmond city council.

After the mayor had called to the attention of the council the fact that

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS MUDDLED BY FAILURE TO NUMBER ALARM BOXES

A false alarm turned in from Sixth and Pennsylvania last night shortly after 10:30 had Fire Department No. 1 "up in the air."

The call which registered on the tape showed box 214. There was no box 214 on the list of calls at the station, and after several minutes' telephoning the department ascertained that the box formerly 214 had been taken out, and changed to Sixth and Pennsylvania streets, and no new number given it.

Fire Department No. 2 was on the scene of the corner from which the signal was turned in, only to find no blaze, and no clue as to who turned in the alarm.

It is thought that the alarm was by some small boy in a spirit of mischief, or by some would-be practical joker.

INJURED ON FOURTH BUT IS RECOVERING

Edna Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hall, 21 Idaho street, who was severely injured from the explosion of a Fourth of July dynamite case in her hand, was reported doing much better yesterday.

a new mayor was to be elected, Councilman Hartnett, of "the wing," moved to ballot.

"WING" WAS DEFIANT

The city clerk told the council that a petition had been received regarding the mayor's selection.

The disposition of the majority of the council seemed to be to ignore the petition, but Mayor Ludewig so forcibly brought it to attention that the "wing" had to let the petition be read. That petition contained the signatures of 93 business houses of Richmond, asking the council to rename Ludewig mayor.

While the "wing" listened impatiently to the reading of the names, the clerk finished. Without deigning to "receive or file" the petition with 93 business houses represented on it, without doing anything except tolerating it to be read, the council promptly proceeded to cast its ballot for Councilman Garrard for mayor, Councilman Lane and one other voting for Ludewig. It is assumed Ludewig voted for himself, Garrard for Garrard, or else the two mayors exchanged courtesies. No one knows.

However, ignoring the petition of the business houses, making good the assertion of a gentleman with an office in the city hall, who has been reported to have said: "My man will be elected mayor. If they bring a stack of petitions forty feet high it won't do any good."

PEOPLE UNAPPRECIATIVE

That man, if he said that, evidently spoke by the cards and knew that when he cracked the whip the councilmen—his councilmen—would jump.

The result of the ballot was that Ludewig received two votes and Garrard seven.

Mayor-elect, Garrard then made a speech in which he said he thanked the councilmen for the honor of his election, and didn't anticipate the office until friends urged him to seek the office.

Garrard highly complimented Mayor Ludewig's administration, which didn't jibe well with the fact that Ludewig had just been voted out of the chair, or rather made it appear that Ludewig's administration, having been such a good one, was unsatisfactory to the majority of the council.

Mayor Garrard frankly told the council that the public does not appreciate what the council and the mayor do for the public.

After complimenting the appointive officials, the new mayor took his chair.

The retiring mayor simply thanked the public and the council for its help and sat down.

WHAT FOR A CHARTER?

The next instance of the determination of the council to run affairs as suit fit was when the question of an ordinance regarding the Nicholl city hall site offer and the referendum petitions on the Wall offer and the council's ordinance came up.

After much discussion the council, through motion by Joe Willis, calmly proceeded to deny the petition and refused to call the election after being advised by the city council that under the charter the council would have to call the initiative election.

Just in order to show the public

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION IS OVERDUE.

News of the railroads for a long time past, generally speaking, has not been encouraging, notwithstanding the widespread conviction and satisfaction that, considering everything, the transportation companies have been passing through a trying period in a manner creditable alike to themselves and to the country they are intended to serve. Their policy has been one of watching and waiting. It has likewise been a policy of hoping—hoping for a turn in the tide of public sentiment, that old conditions might be restored, that reaction might set in—and to this degree hoping has been in vain. Nothing has been clearer to disinterested observers of the railroad situation, in recent years than that the old methods, the old practices, the old relations with the public, with politics and with governmental bodies have become things of the past. Equally clear has it become that readjustment to the new conditions on the part of railway owners and railway managers is an absolute essential to railway prosperity.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the railroads of the United States have fallen far behind accepted standards in general equipment, that improvements and betterments on most of the lines are long overdue; and when any of the great corporations in these days departs from the rule of inaction and, without longer watching or waiting—and without longer hoping in the sense referred to—enters upon construction, no matter how inconsequential or comprehensive, there is a feeling of public relief.

News from Sacramento of improvements and betterments on the Santa Fe system involving an expenditure of about $1,250,000 is of this character. Many of the improvements and betterments contemplated are to be purely local. They will not affect the whole system perceptibly, nor will they be felt by the general passenger or freight patronage. The importance of the appropriation and its purpose lies in this, that they bear testimony to an awakening on the part of the railroads to the fact that they must make the best of conditions as they find them. Greater business than was ever done by them before, there is reason to believe in coming to the carrying companies in the near future, and those companies that are best prepared for the handling of it will get the largest share of it. Watching, waiting and hoping should give place to doing on the railroads in all parts of the country.

WHO?

The Pittsburg Post takes exception to a paragraph in the Richmond Daily News editorial columns which said: "Without the workers all productive industry would come to a standstill, and yet it is the shippers who get all the good things the workers produce. Funny, isn't it?"

Branding the paragraph as "false" and "inflammatory," "vicious," "productive of class hatred," "seditious" and intended to promote trouble, the Post denies the truth of it without proving why.

Who would produce, good friend Post, if the workers quit? The capitalists? Would they, could they produce? Take away the mechanics, take away those men who labor hour in and hour out in foundry and mill, at bench and with crowbar, and who would do their work? Were it not for the producer, the man who does the work, where would capital be?

Now, who rides in motor cars? Who rides in Pullman cars? Who goes to Paris and on the continent? Who owns the palatial yacht, and the more palatial home? Who lives on the best of food? Who has the music, the opera, everything that money can buy?

Is it the producer, the laborer, the working men and women who have these things?

Not by a jugful.

It is so unusual for the sons of the shippers to produce that when they don overalls and go into factory the papers all over the United States herald the fact in the Sunday pages.

Who says anything when the son of a producer dons his first pair of overalls and goes into the mill and shop?

Who makes the most out of the laborer's effort, the laborer or the shipper?

The answer is obvious.

BEAUTIFYING SCHOOL YARDS.

J. H. Prost, forester of the city of Chicago, believes in the beautification of school yards as a means of awakening the civic consciousness to better things. He says:

"The foremost idea in connection with the improvement of the school yards is to educate the older people to a higher appreciation of and love for flowers, shrubs, trees and gardens. By placing before the children a practical lesson in this decorative scheme, we have laid the foundation for its influence being extended to the homes and incidentally the improvement of the parkways on the streets. The child is readily receptive during school age, and the lessons thus inculcated are sure to be productive of good to every citizen. We must begin by showing the child wherein there is a reason for the cultivation of flowers, shrubs, trees and even vegetables. If this training is carried far enough and the child leaves school with a practical idea of the value of such nature study, and a greater love for the things that will gladden his life, he will become a better man, and the cities will improve in a way that will be most notable.

"Practical lessons should be given the child, and the school yard, now a barren waste spot with few exceptions, could be transformed into a place of loveliness. Under the direction of a teacher, the child learns to plant, cultivate and love these things. By working with them and seeing them grow there is awakened a love that would otherwise be dormant, and perhaps never be disturbed."

BUSINESS ABILITY OF WOMAN.

Successful against a number of formidable rivals, a woman has now undertaken one of the largest government contracts that is let in New York—the transportation to the public stores of all undeclared merchandise seized by the customs officials of this port because of non-payment of duty.

This enterprising woman, Mrs. Virginia Keahon, who long ago demonstrated her business ability in the management of the large estate and extensive business interests left by her husband, the late Patrick H. Keahon, succeeded in underbidding her most powerful competitor, the American Transfer Company, which has held the contract for fifteen years.

She now takes up the great transportation proposition with a confidence born of her acquired knowledge of the requirements of the contract, the cost of equipment, the means at hand, the cost of labor and the economies that may be brought to bear in the pursuance of the undertaking.

When a man says of a woman that "she manages like a man," he thinks he is highly commending her, but to so speak of this woman would be paying no considerable compliment, as it is admitted by many men that, for acumen and prudence and farsighted business ability she is superior to most of the male operators in the business world.

WATER FIGURES.

The press committee of the Richmond Water Commissioners, in a communication printed on this page, gives some figures relative to filtration costs. These figures are given, together with the authorities from which they are quoted, and should be read by every person, as they shed much light on the question.

The Daily News is glad to publish these and any other figures or communications from the commissioners or others relative to this question.

If anyone has objections to the propositions, write the Daily News about it. We invite correspondence from the people on all questions of a public nature, believing that this is the better way to get at facts concerning public issues.

WATER DISTRICT COST FIGURES

Editor Daily News: Replying in part to your editorials of several days ago and in part to other questions brought to our attention, we wish to explain in detail some of the figures given in the statement recently issued by the Richmond Water Commission.

The figures as issued are:
YEARLY ESTIMATED EXPENSES ON 3,000,000 GALLONS PER DAY.
Pumping and filtering.....$ 26,400
Administration, operation, overhead, collections, etc. (5c per 1000 gallons)..... 54,750
Interest (6 per cent of $2,500,000)..... 125,000

Total cost of system for one year.....$206,150
Receipts from 3,000,000 gallons, less 5 per cent for losses.....$208,050
Surplus.....$ 1,900

We wish here to show the method of estimating the first amount, that is, "Pumping and filtering, $26,400."

GOVERNMENT FIGURES OF FILTRATION COST.
In 1913 the United States Geological Survey issued a bulletin on "The Purification of Public Water Supplies," as Water Supply Paper No. 315. This is on file in our city library at Fourth and Nevins streets. On pages 62 to 63 of this bulletin we find the following figures of actual operating costs of various public water filters in the United States:

Total cost of filtration per 1,000,000 gallons treated—
Little Falls, N. J.....$2.80
Birmingham, N. Y..... 6.00
Harrisburg, Pa..... 5.31
Cincinnati, O..... 4.19

Daily capacity of filter plant (gallons)—
Little Falls, N. J.....30,000,000
Harrisburg, Pa..... 3,000,000
Cincinnati, O.....49,000,000
The bulletin states that "The total cost of operation, including maintenance of rapid sand filter plants, exclusive of interest and pumping charges ranges in cost in this country from about $3 to $5 for each million gallons of filtered water."

Another good authority for cost of filtration is in Engineering Record September 24, 1910, wherein the actual cost of filtration of "Bubbly Creek" water is shown to have been between $11 and $12 per million gallons in a small plant treating a water that was extremely difficult to purify.

On these and numerous other good authorities we have based our estimated cost for filtration alone at $10 per million gallons, which we believe is extremely liberal.

For 3,000,000 gallons per day, this amounts to a total annual charge of $365x10, which equals $10,950.

Another check on this portion of the estimate is found in a report received by the Water Commission from the department of water supply of Clarksburg, W. Va. That city uses filtered water, treated by "a process of mechanical and rapid sand filtration, by which the commonly dirty water of the river is made bright, sparkling and wholesome." At Clarksburg the annual cost of operating the filter plant (the same type, and delivering approximately the same quantity as ours) has been within $10,000, while our estimates allow $10,950.

Deducting the estimated filter costs, we have left $26,400, minus $10,950, which equals $15,450 per year for pumping.

Based on pumping, 5 per cent in excess of 3,000,000 gallons per day and at a unit cost of 5 cents per million gallons per foot lift.

In the Freeman report to San Francisco (page 158) in the portion devoted to the proposed Sacramento filtered supply by Allen Hazen, the cost of pumping is estimated at 3 cents per million gallons per foot lift.

In the report of the advisory board of army engineers on the Hetch Hetchy valley, dated February 19, 1913 (this can be obtained free from the Government Printing Office at Washington) on page 136, the cost of pumping and filtering Sacramento river water in the proposed project to furnish San Francisco, was estimated at $17 per million gallons, as against $24.10, which we allow in our estimates.

The cost of pumping alone is given on the same page as 4.2 cents per million gallons per foot lift, where we have used 5 cents.

To furnish 3,000,000 gallons average per day the pumping head would not be over 286 feet.

At 5 cents per foot lift per million gallons the total annual pumping cost is 05x3x365x286, which equals $15,660. And adding 5 per cent for losses gives the estimated pumping cost as $16,450.

From the above statement it will be seen that these estimates, like all those made by the board, are extremely conservative, and that the estimated unit costs are not guesses, but are figures that have been proven by actual costs in operating plants, and by very good authorities, to be very liberal.

Respectfully,
RICHMOND MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT PRESS COMMITTEE.

A Blind Horse

can work, but one without feet cannot. A horse's usefulness depends upon his feet. If his feet are poor, the horse is poor. It is the horse's business to keep the horse's feet good. If your horse has poor or diseased feet, bring him to my shop. Most folks say I am a good shoeer of horses. I specialize on diseased feet. I want to show you—will you bring in your horse? WORLD LEADER AT HOME; BEHIND ABROAD

Washington, July 3.—Although a world leader in the interchange of products among its own people, the United States' foreign trade is far short of its immediate possibilities. Such is the conclusion of officials of the department of commerce after a study of the statistical abstract of the United States for 1913, made public today.

American home trade at present is estimated at about $40,000,000,000, which is equal to the international exchange of the world and approximately 10 times the value of its own foreign trade, now valued at $4,000,000,000.

The abstract shows that the present American export trade of $2,500,000,000 represents about $25 per capita. This is a par capita basis equal to half that of Argentina and one-fourth that of Belgium and Canada.

The United States commercial power and its strong international power is further explained in the abstract. It seems that the United States, with 258,000 miles of railway, possesses one-third of the world's total. It leads in the mileage of its telegraph lines, performs more than one-third of the world's mail service on its own routes, while its public debt of $1,000,000,000 is less than that of Italy, Austria-Hungary, Spain, Germany, Australia, Japan, Great Britain, and is less than one-sixth that of France and one-fourth that of Russia.

From 1890 to 1901 American foreign trade grew from $1,500,000,000 to $2,250,000,000, while from 1902 to 1913, it increased from $2,500,000,000 to $4,250,000,000.

In the period since 1870 farm products rose in value from $2,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 a year; the coal output from less than 30,000,000 to 500,000,000 long tons; copper from 12,500 to more than 500,000 tons; pig iron from 2,000,000 to 31,000,000 tons; petroleum from 221,000,000 to 9,250,000,000 gallons, and manufacturers from $4,000,000,000 to more than $20,000,000,000.

EDUCATOR FOR YEARS BEFORE APPOINTMENT TO COMMERCE COMMISSION

DR. CHARLES W. NEEDHAM.

Dr. Needham is the new assistant solicitor of the Interstate Commerce Commission. For years he was a Washington educator, conspicuous in Washington life for eight years as the president of the George Washington University, with five years prior service in that institution as one of its faculty, occupying the chair of comparative jurisprudence and diplomacy. In the stressful financial troubles in which that institution was for a time storm-bound, Dr. Needham kept at the helm and finally left to become one of the corps of expert examiners of the International Commerce Commission.

RICHMOND PEOPLE GO TO CAPITAL FOR WEEK END

A week end party composed of well known Richmondtites, in company with San Francisco visitors, made the round trip from here to Sacramento over the week end, returning Sunday. The trip was made by boat, and return by rail. The party was composed of P. M. Dean and wife, James Donnelly and wife of San Francisco, Olive Tuttle of San Francisco, Hadel Donnelly of San Francisco and Mrs. A. Bowen of Richmond.

Pt. Richmond, Cal., Feb. 13, 1914. Three years ago I was taken with a stroke of paralysis on the right side of my face, which affected my eyes very much. I could not read very much. I could not sew a stitch without it causing me the greatest distress. Dr. Schroeder happened to be treating one of my neighbors and she recommended him to me. Since taking his treatment and being fitted with glasses I can read and sew as much as I like.

HOME RULE IN TAXATION.

Editor Daily News: In May, 1913, the Legislature resolved by a two to one vote to submit to the people of this state, at the general election in November, 1914, an amendment for home rule in taxation.

The adoption of this amendment will not compel any city or town to change its present plan or system of taxation, but it will give the cities and towns in this state the right to change the system if they wish to do so.

No person can logically oppose the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment without offering something else as a substitute, else their opposition will be construed as an admission that the present system of taxation is satisfactory and anybody with an ounce of gray matter under his bonnet that will stand up and say that the present system of taxation is all right, especially as regards the taxation of personal property, is a fit subject for the lunatic asylum.

Under the present system of taxation in this state, we impose a tax on all kinds of industry, which places a burden more or less on the industry. Now if we handicap the industries of the state we restrict them and by restricting them we decrease the number of men employed. Under this amendment any city by vote can exempt any or all of the value of any kind of personal property of all the improvements, or any percentage of both if they wish to do so.

The people also have the right to referendum on any action the city council or county officials might take in the matter of a change of the present system if they should deem it wise, or that it was not to the best interests of the community.

The people have tried it in other places and have found it an overwhelming success. Why not give it a trial in this state?

CHIEF ENJOYMENT IS MAKING TROUBLE FOR CABINET OFFICIALS

Representative F. H. Gillett.

Gillett is a quiet, wiry, liquid-eyed Bay State Republican who has served in every Congress since the 53rd, and it's now the 63rd, but he hasn't been in his element for so long a period as the other day when he excoriated certain folks in administration and pictured the sanctity of the civil service, which, by the way, is his particular fetish. Gillett, under the Republican regime, was chairman of the House Committee on Civil Service Reform, and his other specialty in the Congressional kaleidoscope is the handling of big appropriation bills. Declaring that the country needed more that Secretary of State Bryan should read international law lectures than to deliver Chautauqua addresses, he said that "we want for President and Secretary of State greater foresight than the average man possesses." He criticized what he called the adulatory eulogium of Bryan by Secretary Daniels in Bryan's presence, criticized Secretary Bryan's permitting moving pictures of the diplomatic corps who called on him, and he fired a volley of sarcastic bon mots all along the line.

LABOR NEWS

POTTERY BOYS STRONG IN SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT FOR WESTINGHOUSE MEN

That the Pottery boys are there with the goods was evidenced last evening when a communication from the Westinghouse strikers was read. Not only was a resolution of sympathy drafted and endorsed, but these true blue union men donated from an already depleted treasury $10 and forwarded the same to the strikers.

The Westinghouse strikers are practically alone in the fight, so far as affiliations are concerned, never having affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, or the I. W. W., but are an industrial union within that separate industry embracing all the crafts employed by the gigantic corporation.

This phase of the Westinghouse organization appealed most to the pottery workers, for they have instructed their delegates who are now at the international convention to cast their ballots and use their influence to the same end, that all the crafts employed in the pottery industry be amalgamated into one industrial union.

No word has as yet been received from the delegates on their way to Trenton to the international convention, but expect to hear good reports soon.

that it didn't know what it wanted, the council refused to vote to call the referendum election also. And now it is up to the public if it wants its servant, the council, to obey the city charter to go into the courts for a mandamus and force the council to call the election provided for in the charter under the initiative petition procedure.

The council was advised that it clearly was its duty to call the election, but that made no difference. Willis was supported by Hartnett and others and the motion went through.

MATTER FOR COURTS.

It was intimated if the election was called an injunction would be brought against the election, so the matter would go into the courts anyway.

Following the election of the mayor and the ignoring of the petition of the business men, a communication was received from Attorney Wyndrum for the Santa Fe, asking the council to pass an ordinance making it unlawful for any pedestrian to use the Santa Fe tunnel, except for business concerning the company. It was suggested that the tunnel is being used as a thoroughfare by persons going to the bay-side resorts.

The request was referred to the city attorney and the ordinance committee.

An invitation was received from the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce for the council to participate in Berkeley's big Independence Day celebration in 1915.

The Board of Fire Underwriters notified the council that their Mr. Mitchell would make an appointment with the city special inspector, Apperson, to go over the Gamewell police and fire alarm system.

VACATIONS GRANTED.

A protest was received from Mrs. J. O. Stenmark, who keeps a boarding house next door to 355 Fifteenth street, against the erection of a blacksmith shop on the score it would disturb the sleep of her boarders.

The protest was referred to the building committee and the city attorney.

A leave of absence for two weeks, beginning July 12, was granted Dr. C. R. Blake, city health commissioner. Police Judge Lindsey was also granted a two weeks' leave to begin July 15.

An application for a permit to reshingle the roof of an office in the fire zone in Point Richmond was received from B. E. Loomis and was referred to the building committee.

The tax collector's report for June showed totals for business licenses collected of $529.85; dog licenses, $6; unsecured personal property taxes, $1527.45; engineering fees, $124.46; redemption fund, $166.02; miscellaneous, $2222.73.

Totals: General fund, $613,204; redemption fund, $16,602.

MONKEYS IN FUNDS.

The city auditor's report showed totals in the general fund of $24,241.59; library fund, $1418.80; harbor fund, $73,106.70; tunnel and highway, $137,399.74; municipal improvement bonds, and sinking fund, $12,110.74; balance in treasury, June 30, $248,277.57.

The city architect's report showed that 31 building permits had been issued, value of buildings aggregating $26,125.

The report of the Police Court showed that fines during the month aggregated $249; fines paid, $15; balls forfeited, 2; sentences suspended, 7; prisoners committed, 5; cases continued, 15; discharged, 1. Total of cases handled during the month, 45.

In the report of the city health officer for the fiscal year attention was directed to the serious need for a garbage incinerator in Richmond, owing to the fact that the city now has no dumping ground.

Garbage is accumulating at an alarming rate, says the health department, and the best plan will be to send the city's waste matter out to sea in barges.

PATROL WAGON NEEDED.

The health department also asked that if and the police department be furnished with a combination ambulance and patrol wagon, which is badly needed.

The report was referred to the board of equalization for immediate action.

The light committee reported relative to requests for an arc light at Fifteenth and Roosevelt streets that the light had better be placed at Thirteenth and Roosevelt instead.

The city engineer also reported that Twenty-second street crossing on Espee avenue has been closed up by gates by the railroad company without permission from the city hall. The city will proceed to open the street.

SALOON LICENSES.

On the Sixteenth street improvement it was reported that no water mains had yet been laid on that street, and that if the improvements were made they would have to be dug up again. The street committee was given another week in which to report.

Applications for saloon licenses by H. Stenberg, Richardson and Lottman & Lottman were passed by the council.

The council was notified by Ferriault that the ex-city architect, J. B. Ogburn, had refused to surrender records of buildings now completed, made by his wife, without compensation from the city. It was reported that the new city architect, L. Wierda, had said that he did not care for the old records, but the building committee was instructed to demand the records, nevertheless.

SUBWAY DENOUNCED.

A few minutes of warm session was precipitated when E. H. Miller, representing the Southern Pacific Company, appeared before the council, protesting the council's request for a grade crossing at Bissell avenue. Various members of the council not only favored going ahead with proceedings to get the crossing question before the State Railroad Commission, but will also take up the very dangerous condition which obtained during rush hours of traffic in the subway.

The matter will be pushed by the city attorney and taken before the railroad commission.

The Subway was denounced as a highly dangerous place by several of the councilmen.

Sid Pennington here brought up a question before the council of the speed limit of trains in incorporated cities, finding there is none. Attorney Thomas D. Johnston warned the council that if it passed an ordinance complying with the Santa Fe's request regarding pedestrians it would be making it unlawful for grade crossings to be used, and that if next winter the subway again becomes inundated there will be left poor facilities from getting from one section of Richmond to another without breaking the law.

TO ABOLISH OFFICE.

City Attorney Hall advocated action toward getting subway improvements. An ordinance was introduced on its first reading abolishing the office of city architect and creating the office of building inspector in lieu thereof.

Following this, City Attorney Hall took up the question of the initiative petition and the referendum.

It developed that a move is on foot to have the city buy a city hall site at Tenth and Macdonald avenue and erect its own building there.

The denial of the initiative petition carried in the council by a vote of 5 to 4, and it was decided to leave the whole matter up to the public to be gotten at under mandamus proceeding.

The question of paying Macdonald avenue, between Clarence street and the Standard Oil Company, was brought up and it developed that the cost of improvements would be considered high. It was decided to have the city engineer receive new bids.

TO OPEN STREETS.

Fred Eggerth appeared before the council to protest against the improvement of Fourteenth street on the ground that the street had not been opened clear through. Petition was denied in order that opening proceedings might be instituted by the city engineer's office at once. Thirteenth street will also be opened at the same time.

Bids for street improvement on Castro and other hill thoroughfares were rejected as being too high. New bids will be asked.

Bids for improvement on Cutting boulevard from the intersection of Pullman avenue east were rejected as being incorrectly made out, and new bids will be called for.

Bids for furnishing the plumbing inspector's office were awarded at $111.45 for the carpenter work, William Campbell, bidder, and furniture at a cost of $191.95, submitted by the Mercantile Company.

Resolutions establishing grades on several streets were passed.

It developed that Mrs. Carrie Trull and Mrs. E. B. Small wood had completed their terms as library trustees June 30. They were reappointed.

A resolution for widening Twenty-third street from the Santa Fe tract south to Potrero were introduced.

A commission composed of Mr. Chandler, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Boswell was appointed. No protest being received on the opening of Eighth street, the cutting through of the street was ordered.

WAY FOR SEWER.

An agreement between the city and the Point Richmond Canal Land Co. and H. C. Petty was approved for the right of way for a storm sewer of two 30-inch tile lines to be constructed to relieve flood conditions on Canal street to Cutting boulevard, south.

The agreement in its specific wording was left to the city engineer.

The bonds of Spierch, Brothers and N. J. Prevati, master plumbers, were approved.

Street improvements for Main avenue and Soto avenue were passed, as were those for Castro avenue and Esmond avenue.

Plumbing Inspector Kreig's bonds for $1000 were approved.

A report was received from City Attorney Hall on the outer channel harbor improvement and dredging of the channel from Point Potrero to Ellis channel. The canal will be 100 feet wide, six feet deep at low tide, 76,000 yards of dredging will be necessary, the work will consume 90 days' time and cost $6000. Bids will be advertised for at once.

Fire Chief La Moine asked the council for the use of a police department motorcycle.

WARNINGS ISSUED.

Serious question came up regarding the unfinished condition of the

OPEN AIR MEETING ON TEMPERANCE WAS ENTHUSIASTIC ONE

The open air meeting held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. on the corner of Sixth and Macdonald avenue Sunday night was considered a big success by the local workers in the field. Miss Anna Chase, who is corresponding secretary of the State W. C. T. U., delivered an address on the economical side of the liquor problem, in which she gave statistics of the cost of liquor traffic as compared with the revenue derived from it.

There were several hundred present and the meeting was an enthusiastic one.

WOODMEN OF WORLD INSTALL NEW HEADS

Officers of the Woodmen of the World drill team were installed by District Manager Hughes from Oakland.

The new officers were: East Council George Hunt; Consul Commander Tenny. Advisor Lieutenant H. L. Shannon and Chris Thise as escort.

All members who had brought two new members into the lodge were presented with lodge emblems.

The drill team will meet for their usual drill exercises at Fifth street and Ripley avenue on Wednesday night.

Oakland Traction company's line in Richmond, and it was determined that the company be notified that it must surface between its tracks with the same material as the rest of the street, and a special inspector will be chosen to look after the work.

A warning was issued by ex-Mayor Ludewig that the company has begun tearing up its old tracks with the new ones still uncompleted in violation of its agreement with the city.

The traction company, it was said, could not get the proper grade of vitrified brick with which to bind its rails.

A warning was issued by the fire chief that the torn up condition of the street car lines was highly dangerous to the proper handling of the fire-fighting apparatus.

Little Discussions of Love and Marriage

BY BARBARA BOYD

VENUS AND THE SUFFRAGETTES.

"Wasn't it dreadful the way that English suffragette ruined that lovely painting of Venus," sighed the Soulful Woman.

"I am afraid Venus hasn't much chance these days with suffragettes," replied the Statistical Lady. "The two do not mix."

"But don't you think that is where the suffragettes make a mistake?" protested the Soulful Woman. "Why can't we have both beauty and equal rights?"

"I don't think that was the point the suffragette was trying to make," explained the Statistical Lady. "I think she wanted to set people to thinking upon the difference between the woman of the past, as typified by Venus, and the one that is being evolved today, and to show that the one of the past should be destroyed."

"I don't think she'll do it by hacking Venus," objected the Soulful Woman. "I think she ought to make the woman of today so pleasing that just naturally she'll shove Venus aside and Venus will be forgotten."

"The suffragette of course thinks the modern woman is an improvement on Venus. But some people you know persist in looking backward, and you can't make them turn around until you jerk them. By hacking Venus and pointing to her improved successor, the suffragette sets people to discussing the merits of the old type of woman and the new. And those who had been blissfully unconscious of the fact that there was a new woman turned their heads and took a look at her."

"But I think if the new type had combined the qualities of Venus with the good points of the suffragette no one would have been unconscious of her," objected the Soulful Woman. "Those looking backward would have as unconsciously turned their heads to watch the evolution, as the sunflower follows the sun."

"But we don't want the Venus type," protested the Statistical Lady. "We want to get rid of the idle, luxurious woman content to be a parasite or a doll."

"Keep her loveliness and charm," argued the Soulful Woman, "and replace the undesirable qualities with the force and ability and initiative and all the other good points the suffragettes have. And then you'll have a combination that will prove irresistible. Seems to me the suffragette who hacked the Venus had acquired some of the charms she was so eager to destroy, she could have won people to her cause much more quickly and in much greater numbers than by using the hatchet."

"But you don't understand," protested the Statistical Lady, somewhat hopelessly. "We do not want to win people to our cause by our charm, but by the justice of the cause."

"But is justice any the less justice where it is pleasing and gracious than when it goes with a hatchet ready to smash all who do not agree with it?"

The Statistical Lady looked at the Soulful Woman in despair. "I fear you do not understand the fundamentals of our movement," she sighed. "You have a lot of the Venus in you yet."

"And I am going to hang to it, too," laughed the Soulful Woman. "Don't count on me to help you until you dispense with hatchets."

BASEBALL FANS LOOK WITH ANTICIPATION TO PETALUMA GAME

Richmond baseball fans are looking forward in joyful anticipation of one of the really good times of the season when the Richmond Elks will take into camp the Petaluma team and administer to that aggregation some of the same sort of stuff that laid the boasters of Martinez so low that it will take Father Time only to bring them around. Petaluma, however, has a real ball team, not the imitation variety, and the players and fans are not the sort to show the yellow when licked.

The excursion will be one of the largest that the ball club has yet pulled off. Preparations are being made for a crowd of well over 400 and there is no question that many will go by other means than the steamer Caroline, which has been chartered for the occasion.

RITCHIE IS READY FOR BATTLE TONIGHT

London, July 6.—Lightweight Champion Willie Ritchie stepped on the scales at his training camp at Brighton today and tipped the beam at 134 pounds. All fears of the champion not making the weight were dispelled by the process.

Word from Welsh's camp is to the effect that he will do the 135 pounds required easily.

If all goes well with Willie Ritchie, the lightweight champion boxer of America, who is to meet Freddy Welsh, the English lightweight title holder, the American lad will be worth nearly $120,000 before he steps into the ring to fight the most important battle of his career.

Ritchie is to receive at least $25,000 for the bout with Welsh, whether he wins or loses. Both lads have agreed to make 135 pounds, the English lightweight limit.

On the night of the bout Ritchie will have in his possession or in the bank or invested in real estate or real estate mortgages, about $120,000. And nearly all of it will have been earned since Thanksgiving day, 1912, when he wrested the title away from Ad Wolgast.

ALAMEDA CAPTURES SINGLE SKIFF EVENT WITH CHAMPIONSHIP

San Diego, July 6.—A. Brampton of the Alameda club captured the single skiff event, carrying with it the Pacific Coast championship. His time for the mile and a half, with turn, was 11:38. Frank Davies of the South End club was second and W. Ringen of the Dolphin club, third.

The steamer Caroline will leave the San Francisco Quarry wharf at 8:45 a. m. and returning will leave Petaluma at 5:30, arriving here about 7:30. All necessary arrangements have been made with the street railway company to handle the crowds at these hours and there will be plenty of cars.

The excursion is intended for Mr. Baseball Fan and his wife or sweetheart and all arrangements are with that strictly in mind. Only soft drinks, sandwiches and ice cream will be sold on the boat and no other kind of drinks will be allowed. The best of order is always observed by Richmond crowds and this will be no exception.

The Richmond Concert Band will be along and there will be plenty of music. There will be dancing on the lower deck and a general good time. The hospitality of the good people of Petaluma is well known and everybody expects that the series of three games will be among the best the Richmond boys have yet played. Concerning the series the Vallejo Chronicle aptly remarks that Petaluma has never played much baseball with teams on this side of San Pablo bay and the game with Richmond ought to be the beginning of better acquaintance. It is not very far over to Sonoma county.

The Richmond boys will play their old positions and the line-up of the Petaluma team will be as follows:

Jorgensen, ss; Croll, 3b; Cullen, cf; Kennedy, 2b; Ryan, 1b; Brown, rf; Schwerin, lf; Lasater, c; Hollis, p.

STRIKE-OUT RECORD OF 33 YEARS AGO IS STILL UNBEATEN

In 33 years of major league baseball the small number of 23 pitchers have made the record of whiffing sixteen or more batters in a game, and think of the thousands of games which have been contested during this period. In 1883 Charley Sweeney, pitching against Boston, hung up the high number, fanning 19. Hugh Daly is the only one to tie Sweeney. Shaw fanned 18 once, and Heckler 17. "Toad" Ramsey really has a more startling record than Sweeney, for he fanned 17 once, and each batter had four healthy swings at the ball. Ramsey struck out 15 or more on more than one occasion. The only pitcher who has approached him in this respect is Rube Waddell.

Buffington, the big right hander, who was the star twirler for the Boston and Philadelphia teams in the National League for many years, and because of his mastery over a wonderful drop ball, caused many batters to whiff, got 17 of the Clevelanders during 1884, and in 1885 made 16 of the Detroiters fall before his elusive down-shoots.

EVERY DAY BALL NOT TO BE CONSIDERED FOR TROLLEY LEAGUE TEAMS

According to ones former manager of a Trolley League club, there is little chance for the prosperous up-state aggregation coming under the guiding sway of organized baseball, as has several times been suggested. "Every-day ball would be out of the question, and even if they had games on Saturday and Sunday only," he said, "it would spoil the attendance to such an extent that it wouldn't pay. Sunday ball, however, is doing nicely all over the league, and the fans are co-operating in fine form."—Call.

WHERE WAS MATTY?

When the Giants were playing in St. Louis recently a local clergyman called at the hotel where they were stopping one Sunday to congratulate Mathewson on his stand against playing on the Sabbath. The clerk made a few mysterious inquiries and then said to the parson: "Sorry, sir, but Mr. Mathewson is out playing golf."

BURNS AND MOY TO GO FULL 15 ROUNDS AT WHEELMEN'S CLUB

Oakland, July 6.—The first 15-round scrap to be held in Oakland in many moons will be staged by the Oakland Wheelmen's Club on the night of July 15, when Frankie Burns and Eddie Moy will step this distance at the Piedmont pavilion. Moy, who has had little to do since his arrival on the coast, being handicapped with a bad shoulder, starts work today at Rohan's Washington street camp, while Burns will train at San Rafael.

BEST OF FRIENDS.

Are you good friends of the Brown's?

I should say so. We're taking care of their canary, bulldog and gold fish while they're away on their vacation.

SENSITIVE.

That office boy of mine is terribly sensitive.

How do you know? Everytime one of his relatives dies he has to go to a ballgame to get his mind off his sorrow.

HANDSOME LUMBER JACK PROVES BEARDED WOMEN

Bangor, Me., July 3.—Up to Friday afternoon James George was regarded by the people of Kingfield merely as a good-natured and rather handsome man of 40, who was a good worker in the novelty mill, dressed well and preferred cigars to the ordinary workman's pipe. He was something of a favorite with the boss, but seemed to prefer James Jameson as a chum, often taking long walks with him.

On Friday, however, it developed that James George was not a man at all, but a woman, and that she came to Kingfield to find James Jameson, whom she claimed as her husband. She informed Deputy Sheriff Hinds that Jameson had deserted her and wanted him arrested. Hinds sent her to Farmington to interview Sheriff Small, and at last accounts she was there.

The experience of the deserted wife, as she relates it, rivals that of the Cleveland, O., girls who posed as the husband of another girl in order that she might get a man's wages. She says that her name is Mrs. Georgiana Jameson, that she is 38 years old, and that she has a daughter of 19 by a former marriage, and a child of 3, of which James Jameson, her second husband, is the father. She was for some years the "bearded lady" in the Barnum circus, but that six years ago her husband, who also traveled with the circus, died, and that she then married James Jameson in St. Stephen, N. B., and came with him to Maine. Jameson got a job in a mill at Phillips, and then went into the woods as a pulp wood peeler. Not wanting to separate from his wife, Jameson urged her to wear men's clothes and join the woods crew, which she did, and for some months she worked with the rest, peeling the bark from poplar logs, eating and sleeping in the common camp and learning to smoke and play cards, in order to kill time and be sociable. The work was rather hard, but the only thing she much regretted about the strange life was that she had to cut off her hair.

After some months at this sort of work for which she received the same pay as any of the men, Mrs. Jameson says her husband took her to Livermore Falls, where they both got jobs in a pulp mill. Here he compelled her to work until a few days of the birth of her child. Then, suddenly, he deserted her, and as soon as she was able she resumed her male garb and went in search of him, finding him in Kingfield, where, after his refusal to make amends for his treatment of her and their child, she asked for his arrest.

Mrs. Jameson says that she is a graduate nurse, and that she served for a year in the Central Maine General Hospital in Lewiston, where her daughter is now studying. James Jameson denied that the "bearded lady" is his wife, declaring that he never saw her until two weeks ago in Kingfield, and that he knew her there merely as an agreeable young man.

SPEND SUNDAY HERE.

Mrs. Fred Watson and her 11-day-old daughter, Norma June Watson, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Howard Richard on Fourth Sunday. They will leave for Glen Frasier for a visit to her mother, and will then return to Riverbank, where they will live.

WILL RETURN HOME TODAY.

J. T. Carr, a fireman in the employ of the Santa Fe Company, is a visitor at the home of his mother, Mrs. Cary Carr, 33 Nicholl avenue. With him is his wife and baby son. They expect to return to Riverbank today.

VISITED FRIENDS HERE.

Louis Howe of San Francisco spent the week end over the Fourth of July visiting friends in Richmond.

The receipts from the motor tax amount to $1,222,506.

BUILDING PERMITS SHOWING UP WELL

Building permits to the amount of $2740 were issued yesterday by City Architect Wierda, making a total of $4340 since his taking charge of the office.

The largest building for which a permit was granted was for $2800, being a dwelling house which will be built by Abbott & Chinook on Third between Buena Vista and Richmond avenues, in the East Richmond tract. The building is to be a one-story frame structure.

A permit was issued to Martin Appel for a $600 residence on Seventh street, near Lucas avenue. J. A. Lo Mond will be the builder.

John Juadres was also granted a permit for a $340 frame building to be used for a residence. J. Galbreith was named as builder.

A permit for the construction of a blacksmith shop on Fifteenth street, near Macdonald, was issued July 3 to O. S. Biglow. The cost will be $600, and the structure a one-story frame building.

Richmond Theatre

Two big reels featuring life in the Northland and depicting animal scenes and customs of the aborigines, who live in the wilds of the uninhabited country north of us, will be shown at the Richmond theater this evening. The management has also secured Pathe's Weekly. This will show all of the interesting happenings of the day. Just to make the program a varied one, some very amusing numbers have been signed up. One of these is by the Vitagraph company and shows "Buddy's First Call." The other comedy is "The Double Cross," an Edison, which for laughing situations has anything best which has been shown at any of the local show houses in many months. The closing number is a Boogey and produced by all of the famous playing folk with that firm. It is entitled "Her Mother's Weakness."

AUTOISTS LEAVE FOR TRIP AROUND TAOE

SCARCE RECOVERED FROM OPERATION IS AGAIN IN ACCIDENT

The truth that lies in the old proverb, "Misfortune never comes singly," was brought forcefully home to the 12-year-old son of J. C. Campbell, 317 Macdonald avenue.

The boy, who is scarcely recovered from an operation, and has just returned from a San Francisco hospital, was passing on Macdonald avenue, in front of the Fair department store. A workman on a ladder near where he was passing accidentally let the ladder fall, striking the boy and bearing him to the pavement.

BAPTIST MEN'S LEAGUE DISCUSS WATER PLANS

If anybody in Richmond should be interested in plans for abundant water supply it ought to be the good Baptists of the city.

The men's league of the Calvary Baptist church entered into a lively discussion of the water bonds last night after the proposed new supply was explained by Engineer Baker of the water district. Sentiment in favor of the project was decidedly in the majority among those present.

BOYS' BRIGADE VICTORS IN BATTLE

Consequently when the S. W. V. opened fire at close range the artillery was temporarily demoralized, and not until the G. A. R. came to their assistance and by continuous and wicked fire drove the S. W. V. to cover, were the artillery able to get their range and open fire.

BOYS WERE STRATEGISTS.

All this time the spectators were wondering where the Boys were. Their presence and force was soon to be felt, however, for they were holding themselves in reserve, and with the stealth of an Indian they had crept up until they were virtually under the cannon's mouth on the right flank before they were discovered.

There was nothing left for the G. A. R. to do but to go to the defense of the battery. There was no time for the use of tactics. The large guns were silenced, so the Grand Old Boys, ignoring the shouts of a charge from the left, where the S. W. V. were rushing down the hill, they marched at double time in front of the battery into the solid front of the Boys' Brigade, which had suffered no loss and which was impregnable.

After a short hand-to-hand encounter with clubbed rifles and bayonets, those old Defenders of the Flag in many a bloody battle, succumbed to the inevitable and surrendered the keeping of the trophy to its defenders of the present generation, amid the cheers of the spectators, the S. W. V., the National Guard and even the G. A. R. themselves, all well knowing that the emblem of the nation had fallen into good and reliable hands, with a trust that they will guard it as jealously as those Grand Old Boys themselves have done for more than half a century.

And yet there was another element that figured in the fray that must not be overlooked for the sake of those that so bravely yet ignominiously suffered defeat; for possibly only by a few was the stand on the part of the militant suffragettes observed.

They were seated upon benches nearly in front of the guns and ignored the formidable appearance of the pieces and the advice of the combatants until the deadly machines of war began action and the force of the air and the fumes of the powder made it impossible to maintain their equilibrium and their position without danger to raiment and complexion, so they beat it without order, utterly routed to tall timber and shelter.

ZEBB KNOTT CAN RUN.

One of the most interesting and comical features of the entire program was the footrace between candidates. Among those who were in the race was Zeb Knott, candidate for supervisor; A. C. Lang, William F. Huber, also supervisory candidates, and Clarence Odell, candidate for superior judge.

The race was a hundred-yard dash and of all the candidates Zeb Knott was the heavyweight. Never before did Zeb realize what a handicap was a portly "tummy" to a candidate who is making a race for something. But, despite his avordupols, Zeb managed to keep one jump ahead of Lang, and these two led all the others.

Zeb by force of will and training, of early days when he used to outrun his dad, the latter, armed with a switch, pulled out the race by a narrow margin.

"I find there is a lot of difference between running when you are slim and have plenty of hair, being scared at the same time, and running when you have more flesh than headcovering and figure that you will win the big race anyway," said Zeb yesterday.

The event created as much excitement and merriment as any incident of the day and the candidates spent the rest of the day recovering their "breath."

But the fact that Zeb, in spite of his weight, managed to break the world's record for hundred-yard dashes, augurs well for his candidacy, say his friends.

Han W. F. Freudenberger was the day's orator, speaking for nearly an hour on patriotism.

The Declaration of Independence was read by John Kovec.

HAT IN WASHINGTON BUT SKIPS ABOUT ALL WAY FROM PEKING TO CHINA

ROBERT LANSING

Lansing is a dyed-in-the-wool international lawyer who hangs his hat in Washington but skips about all the way from Peking to the Hague. He succeeds John Bassett Moore as Counselor and is a Democrat, strangely enough, for he lives in the political twilight zone of the District of Columbia. He is fifty years old, a member of the bar the past quarter of a century, and married Miss Eleanor Foster, daughter of John W. Foster, who after being Secretary of State at Washington, broke all records in a magnificent fee he received for advisory services to the Chinese government. Lansing has collected fur seal evidence on the Pacific Coast, has attended the Fur Terminal in Paris, has been counsel for the Chinese Legation back in the nineties, counsel for the United States before the Bering Sea claims commission, and for the Mexican and Chinese Embassies, and counsel before the joint high commission.

BLANKETS SAID TO HAVE BEEN STOLEN FROM FRANK AGAR

A robbery was reported early this morning at the residence of Frank Agar. The thieves were reported as coming in a launch, two of them dressed in the uniform of a soldier and one in civilian garb. They were said by Agar to have stolen several blankets.

Officer Barry of the Richmond police force was called to the scene, and arrived in time to see a launch departing, at which he fired four shots. The launch refused to turn back, and Barry is of the opinion that he hit one of the men with a bullet. Agar is the proprietor of the resort known as Kozy Kove.

BIG SPEED EVENT TO BE STAGED AT ROLLER RINK BY TWO MARVELS

Arrangements have been made by the Richmond Roller Rink to stage one of the classiest speed contests on Wednesday evening, July 8, that has been seen in this city since the rink was started.

The race will be between Harold Such and Jack Herr, the fastest speed marvels in the West. A purse of $50 and a large side bet will add interest to the event and the winner will challenge Fred Marshall, the champion roller speed artist of the Pacific Coast.

The admission for the event will be but 10 cents.—Adv.

BIRTHS MORE THAN QUADRUPEL DEATHS IN MONTH OF JUNE

The vital statistics for the month of June, as compiled by City Health Commissioner Blake, showed 32 births, against seven deaths. Three only of the deaths were residents of Richmond, against four in June last year, seven for 1912 and two for 1911.

The causes of the seven deaths were distributed, two to pneumonia, two to old age, one to heart disease, one to bronchitis and one general.

The birth rate this month compares 32 to 29, which was the record of June, 1913. In 1912 there were 21, in 1911, 20, and in 1910, 5.

Twenty of the births last month were girls, and 12 boys.
